

*7* Layout Frustrations that will have YOU

MAKING TRACKS to SOLUTIONS at TW TrainWorx ...

1. After five years of your best efforts on Your Model Railroad Empire, your Grandson asks, “Hey Grand Pop, are we EVER going to get to run trains?”
2. Your new dream job requires relocating every few years and your dream layout was built like an unmovable boat in the basement ...
3. You finally have tracks down and the last power drop connected, so you throw the main power on and open up the throttles, your locos lurch forward three feet, stop, and every transformer is indicating a dead short. One look at the inverted spaghetti bowl under the table and you know it is not going to be a fun day ...
4. While you are mentally feeling like a kid in a candy store at every York meet you attend, your knees and spine are telling you that you are going to need some stronger backs to put your long planned layout in to that special space you have waiting at home!
5. You’ve made a lifelong investment in quality trains that are special to you and finding the right collaborator to develop your personal model train layout experience should be an extension of the enjoyment you have had and not a chore that you settle for, just to get it done ...
6. Once upon a time, friends that shared the hobby would take turns working on each other’s layouts ... and you are still waiting your turn ... The Heart of TEXAS is also the heart of the good old USA, and that pretty much makes us friends and neighbors too!
7. Your better half has made it clear that this is the final ultimatum ... The endless work-in-progress that has been your train room for as long as anyone can remember now has a non-negotiable completion date or it reverts to family domain ...

Rick & Carole Rooney's words:

“TrainWorx has created in our layout for the first time, we believe, in S Gauge the ultimate layout possible in a twenty foot by twenty foot space that combines the play of train movement and the illusion of a transportation system. TrainWorx achieved this by combining the Legacy Control system with a track plan consisting of a double track basic loop disguised by forming it as a two level folded dog bone with an incredible blend of scenery, trestles, bridges and mountains. This has been complemented with a shorter automated end to end reverse loop and an outside “O” gauge loop for optional Thomas the Tank, Polar Express and Harry Potter trains.

*The subtle nuances of the scenery are still revealing themselves to us every time we look at the layout. The mountains are majestic yet unobtrusive and the trestles and bridges allow us to follow the extensive train action almost continuously. The artistic talent applied to this project has created a work that in total is a masterpiece that ranks as a museum level treasure.

TrainWorx is really a providential gift to our hobby that needs to be taken advantage of by anybody who loves the hobby as much as we do.”
